Product feature

Push Notifications

Push Notifications

By means of Push Notifications, you can track shipments in a multi-carrier environment.

This way, you can keep your customers informed in real time.

Status changes in delivery and return operations experience a relevant time lag between the moment the event occurs and the moment it is reported to the merchant. This generates operational issues due to their update frequency.

Limited standardization

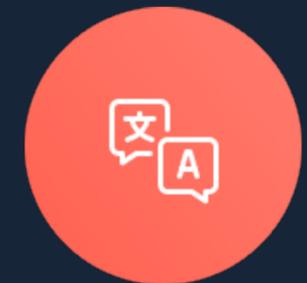

Low productivity

Late update

Little customization

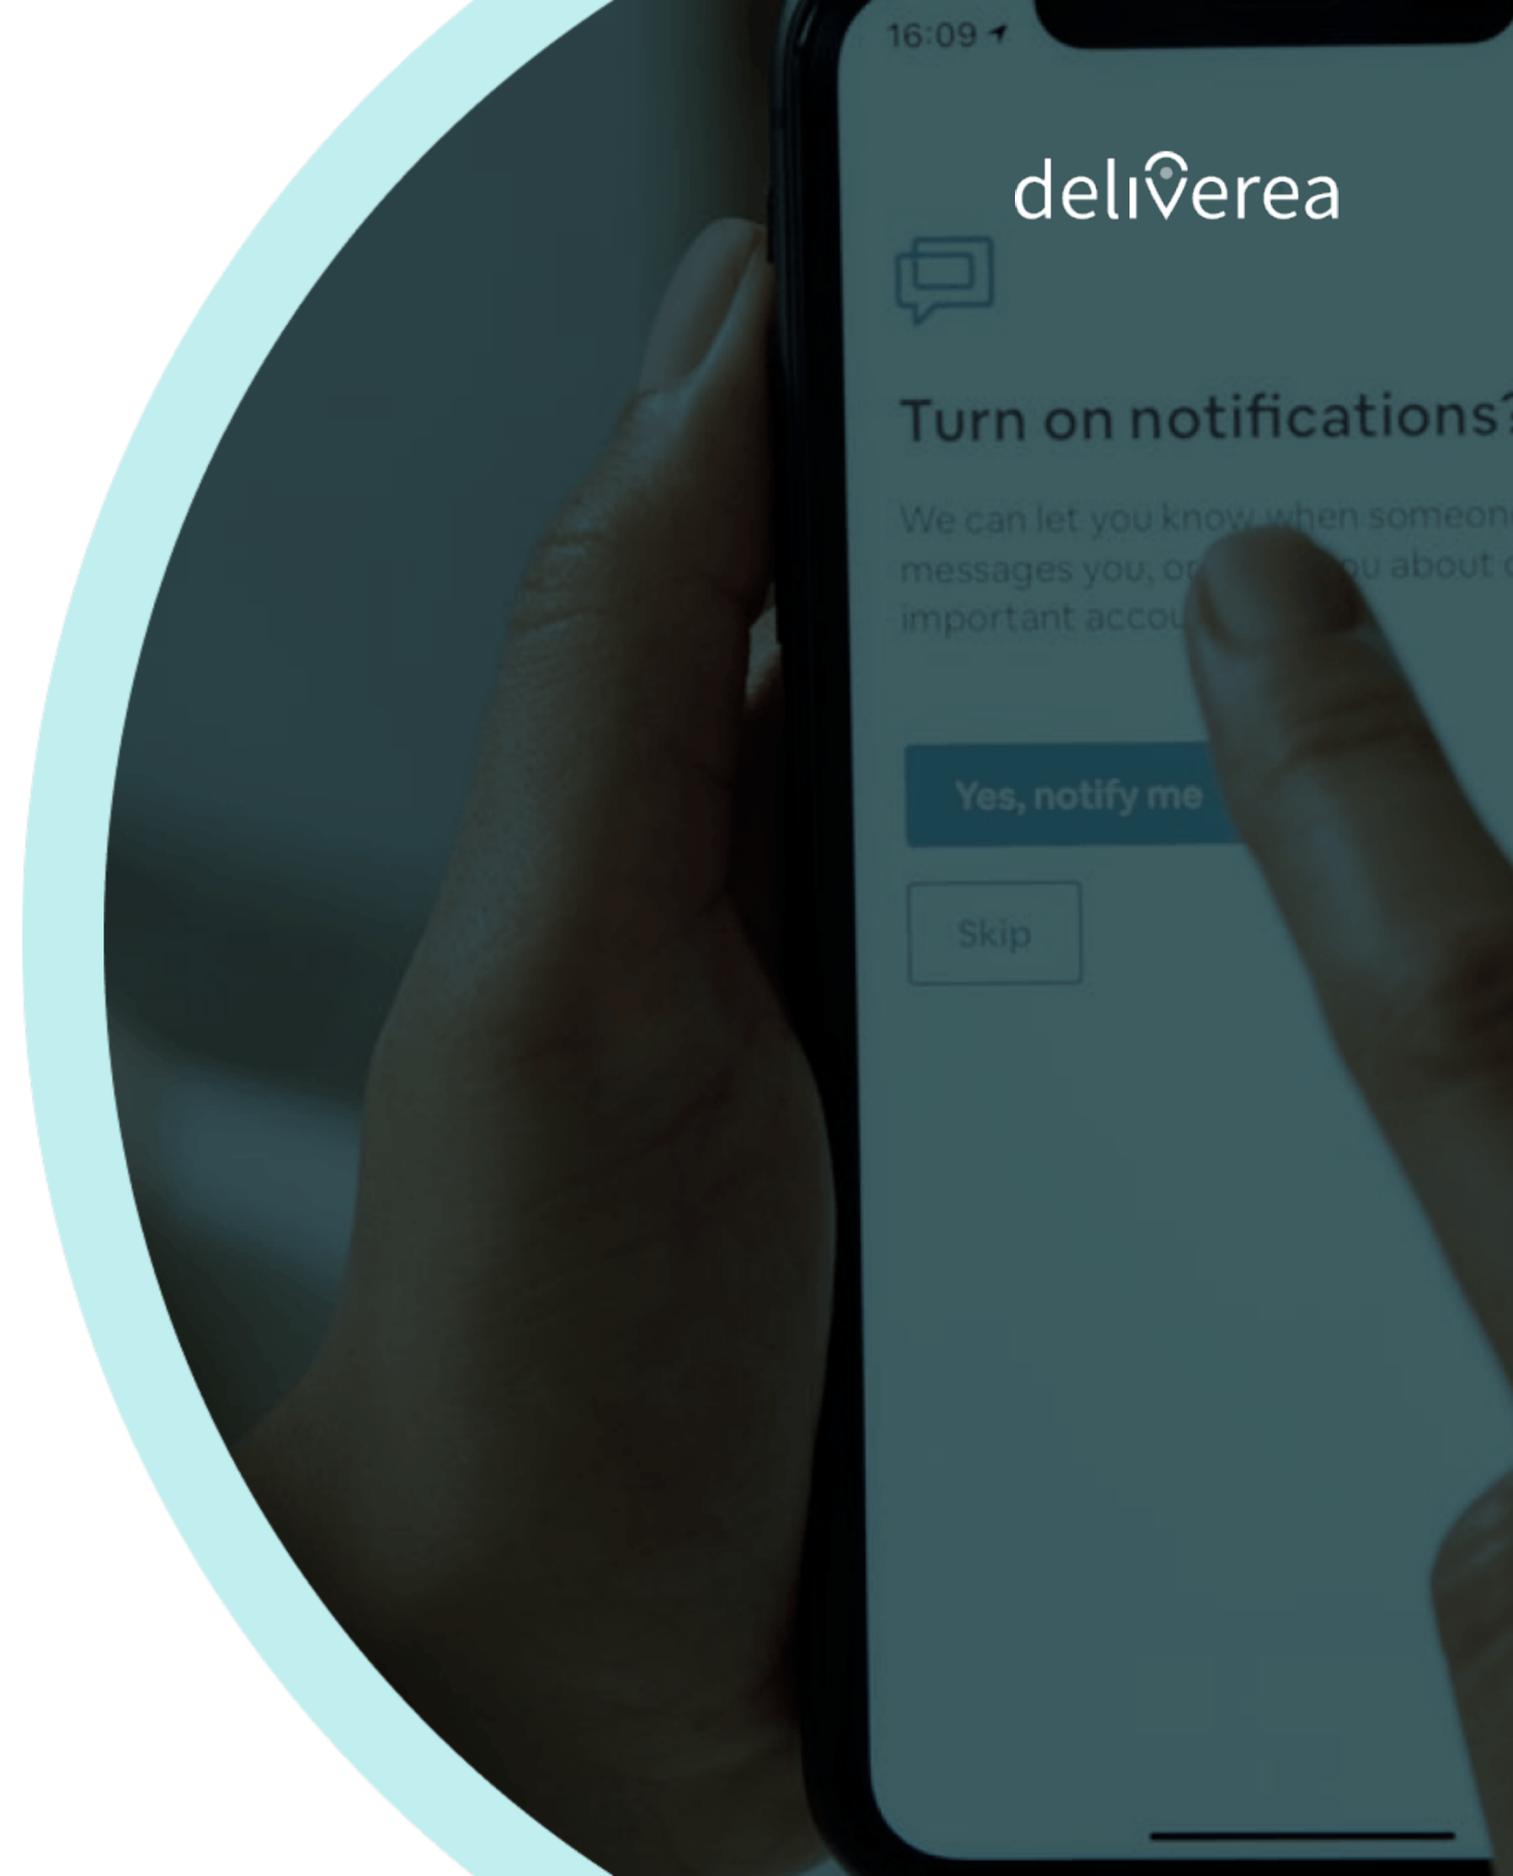

Language difficulty

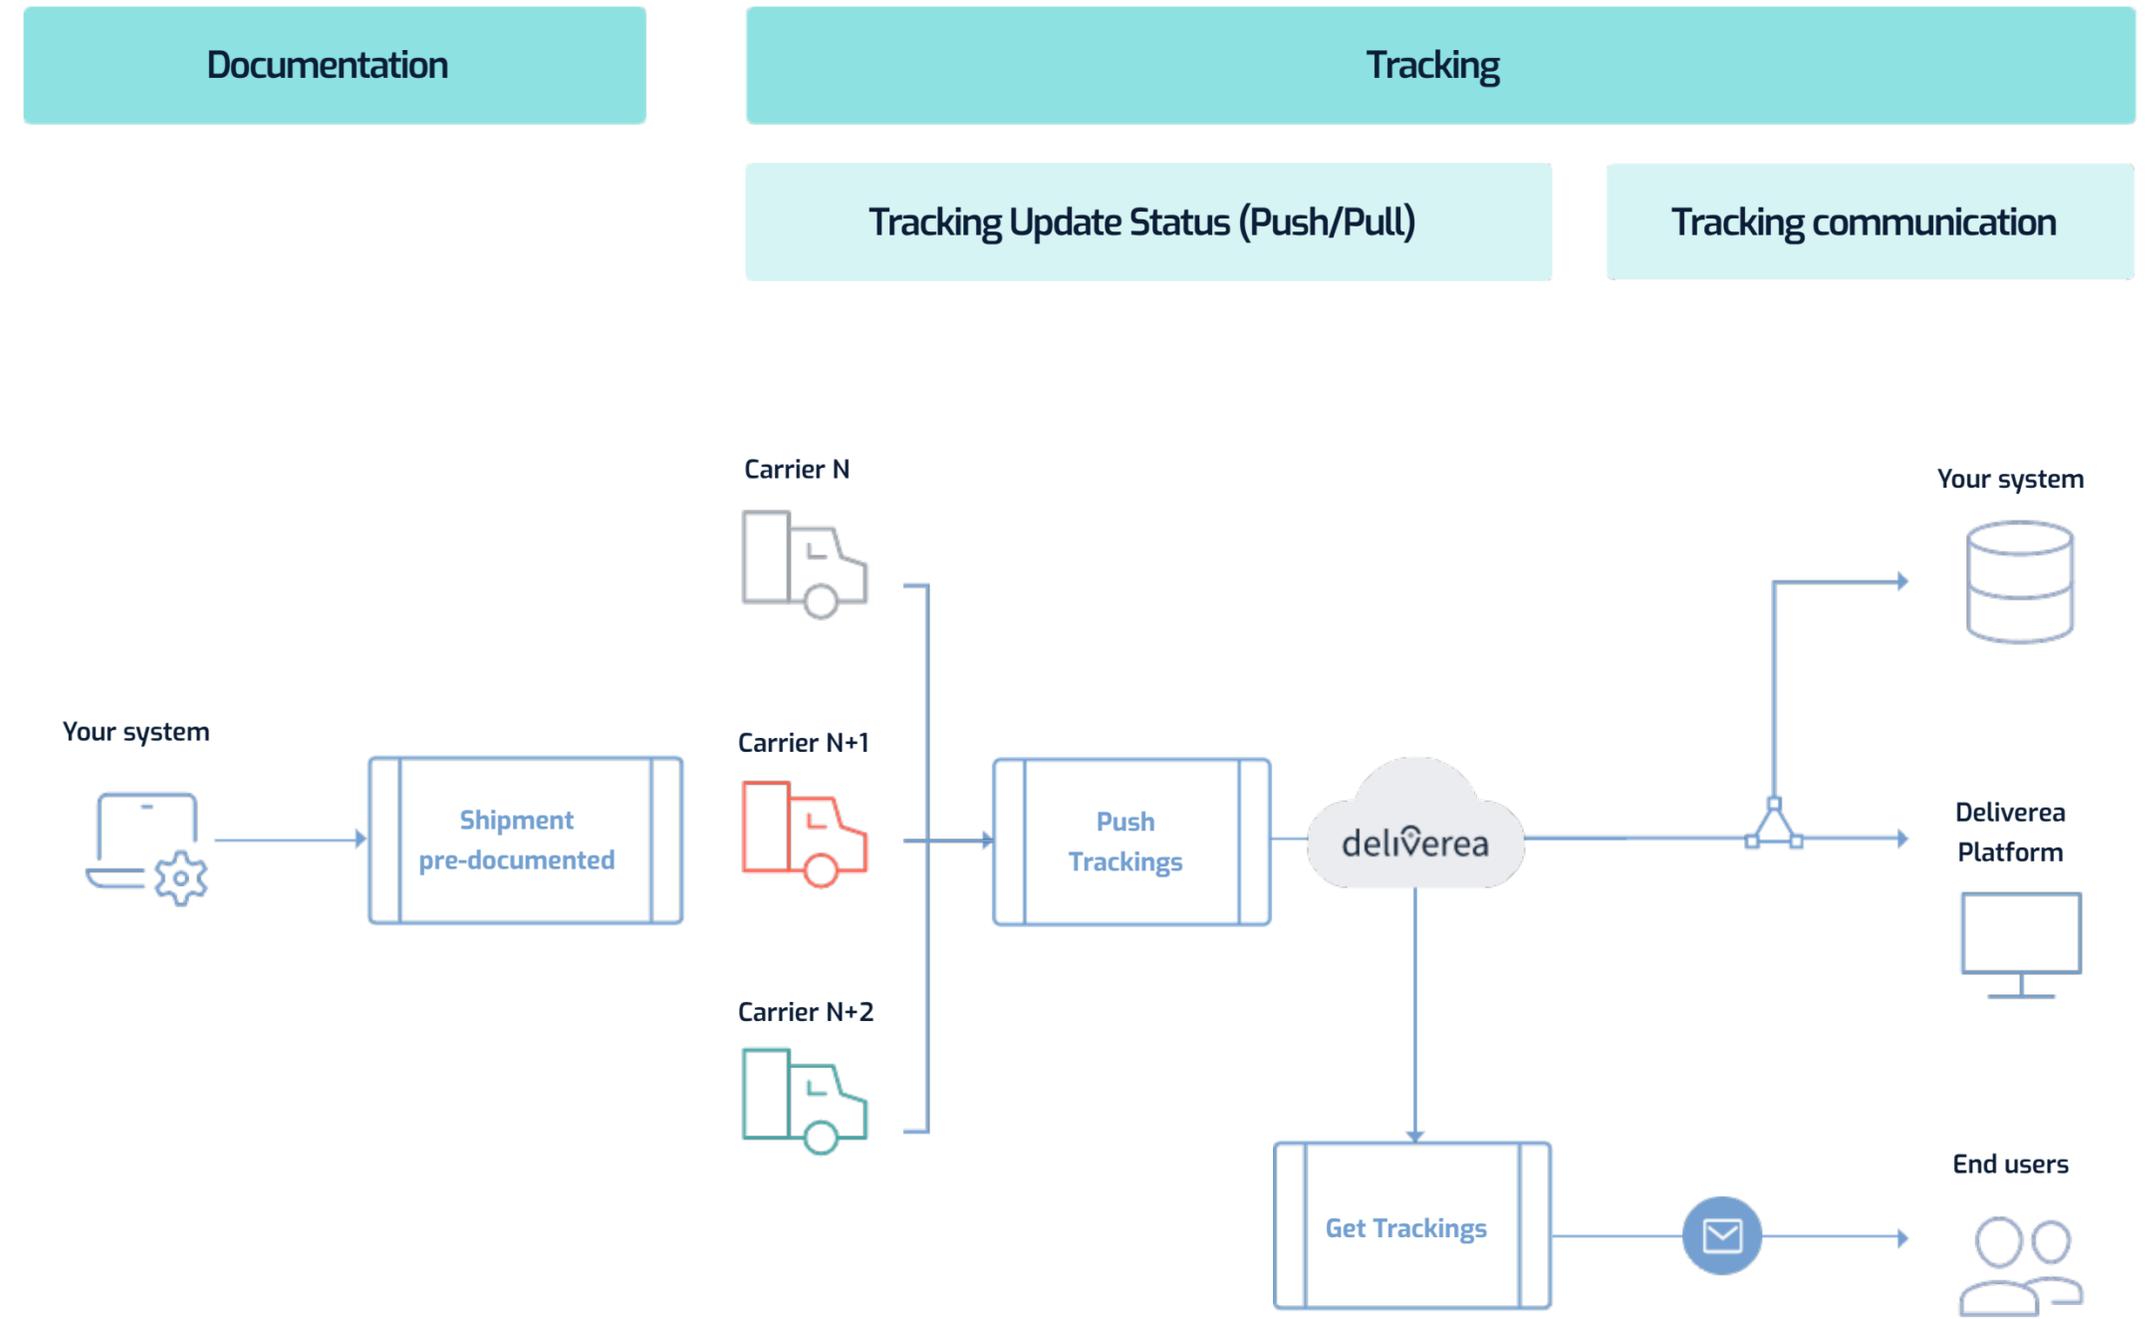

Our solution

Push notifications make it possible to:

- Standardize your shipments' status even if they are managed by different carriers.
- Update your shipments' status in real time.
- Centralize all information on a single platform.
- Increase proactivity thanks to real-time updates on shipments that require your interaction.

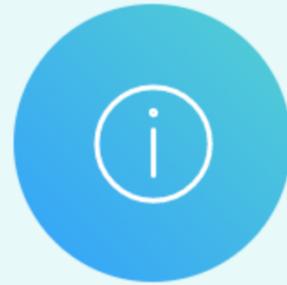

Technical flow

Multi-carrier operations

Customers who work with several carriers simultaneously and need to centralize information to optimize management.

Customer information

Customers who, due to their workflow, must inform their end customers of their shipments' status.

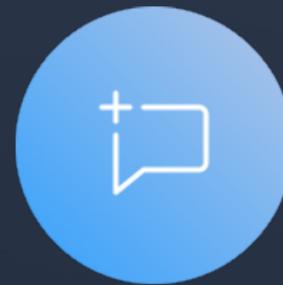

Customers with Same day operations

Customers whose complex operations require centralized and standardized information.
